OMAHA'S WELCOME.

The Presidential Party at Nebraska's Chief City.

AN ENTHUSIASTIC GREETING.

Large Crowds from Western Iowa, Kansas, Western Nebraska, Wyoming and South Dakota Attracted to Omaha by the President's Visit.

OMAHA, May 14.—Omaha had her spring finery on at an early hour yesterday. The city had been trimmed in the National colors since the previous night in honor of the coming of the presidential party. The arrangement committee succeeded in having the business blocks and residences along the route of the procession decorated quite profusely. A speaker's stand, beautifully trimmed, was erected at the corner of Court House square at Seventeenth and Farnum streets, and such buildings as the banks, the New York Life, Bee, World-Herald, Paxton and Millard hotels, and chamber of commerce were especially noticeable for the profuseness and beauty of their decorations.

Large crowds came into the city from western Iowa, Kansas, western Nebraska, Wyoming and South Dakota, and swelled the concourse on the streets.

The train was late in arriving, owing to protracted stops at Hastings, Lincoln and other points in the state. But at 12 o'clock the booming cannon announced its arrival to the expectant crowd. The streets have never been so crowded since the history of the city, and the splendid weather and the enthusiasm all helped to make the party's reception very creditable to Omaha and the west.

An escort committee consisting of Governor Boyd, Senators Sanderson and Paddock, ex-Senator Saunders, Gen. Brooke, of the army, Mayor Cushing and other prominent persons had met the president at Lincoln, and they accompanied the party to this city. As the president stepped from the train to enter his carriage, a mighty shout went up from the multitude collected at the station.

A reception committee, and a committee of ladies met the party at the train, and members of these were distributed among the carriages containing the distinguished visitors. Quick time was made by the carriages from the station to Farnum and Seventeenth streets, where the procession was forming.

The cheering from the crowds of people massed along the sidewalks and formed in the windows of the buildings grew in volume as the president approached the court house where the formal ceremonies took place. Directly in front of the court house a grand stand wreathed in red, white and blue bunting had been erected. Alighting here, the gentlemen of the party took places on the platform.

Mayor Cushing welcomed the president, and the latter in response made an address which was frequently interrupted by cheering.

The crowd yelled for Mr. Wanamaker, who made one of his happy speeches, and cries of "Uncle Jerry," secured a few remarks from the secretary of agriculture.

Crossing over from the stand to The Bee building, directly opposite, the president held a public reception for an hour. At the conclusion of the reception the presidential party and its escort re-entered the carriages for a drive about the city.

It was 3:30 when the party had finished the tour of the city, and reached the home of ex-Senator Saunders, the father-in-law of Russell B. Harrison. The wives and daughters of senators and ex-senators, military officers and prominent society people of Omaha assisted Mrs. Saunders at the reception.

At 4 o'clock the president lunched with the Saunders household quite privately.

During the drive the procession stopped at Creighton college, where 2,000 Catholic children greeted the president with cheers and songs, and at the high school where 1,000 children were present.

At 5:30 the reception committee and army officers again took charge of the president and escorted him to his train, which left the depot at 6 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Harrison, who left Washington with the presidential party, took leave of their fellow-travelers to-day. Mrs. Harrison will remain in Omaha for two weeks, when she will go to New York to sail for Europe with Mrs. McKee on June 3. Mr. Charles L. Saunders, a brother of Mrs. Russell Harrison, also left the party here.

At Council Bluffs a large delegation of G. A. R. men met the president, and he spoke a few words to them before he was whisked out of the depot and began crossing the great state of Iowa.

KNIGHTS OF HONOR.

Supreme Officers' Reports Show the Order to Be in Good Condition.

NEW ORLEANS, May 14.—At the second day's session of the supreme lodge Knights of Honor the reports of the officers were read. They show that there are 2,573 working lodges with a membership of 137,600 Knights in good standing. The benefit fund has a balance on hand of $122,578.45, and paid out during the year to widows and orphans the sum of $3,332,500. The general receipts for the year amounted to $97,169, and there is a balance of $51,464 still due to this account.

The members of supreme lodge were tendered a reception at the Grand opera house last night by the grand jurisdiction of Louisiana.

Forest Fires Still Raging.

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., May 14.—A destructive forest fire is raging on Wallis run, in the northern part of Lycoming county. Great damage has already been done.

NAVAL BATTLE.

A Rumor That the Charleston Has Sunk The Itata.

CITY OF MEXICO, May 14.—The Anglo-American newspaper publishes rumors of the sinking of the Itata by the United States cruiser, Charleston, but gives neither time nor place. The authorities have no news on the subject.

Orders From Mexico.

CITY OF MEXICO, May 14.—The government has given strict orders to the port authorities on the Pacific coast to report the appearance of any Chilian or other warships. The opinion is general here that the Itata and her convoy will double on the Charleston.

It is rumored here that a fishing schooner saw two vessels off the coast yesterday sailing at full speed, one at 10 a. m. and the other at 2 p.m. Those on board the fishing vessel were unable to distinguish them.

No News Received at Washington.

WASHINGTON, May 14.—Officials at the navy department are still in the dark concerning the movements of the cruiser Charleston, and other vessels of the navy in the Itata case. No information on the subject, they say, has been received at the department, and, as far as they know, the Itata is still at liberty. The Charleston, however, it is thought, is gaining on her rapidly, and will probably reach Acapulco shortly after the arrival of the Itata.

CHARITIES AND CORRECTION.

Beginning of the Eighteenth Annual Conference at Indianapolis.

INDIANAPOLIS, May 14.—The hotels are crowded with delegates to the eighteenth National conference of charities and correction, comprising members of boards of state charities, superindendents and trustees of benevolent associations, directors and officers of charitable institutions and wardens and directors of prisons and reformatories.

The conference from a small beginning has grown in influence and the number of its delegates, until it is now one of the most important National conferences of the country, and exerts a great influence in the promotion of social reforms. Its object is to collect, compare and diffuse information respecting every description of charitable, penal and reformatory enterprises, both public and private, while the delegates are earnest and practical men and women, some actively engaged in such work and others, who while occupying no official station, are interested as philanthropists and good citizens.

The sessions of the conference which opened yesterday evening, will occupy one week and will be held in Plymouth church. Among the prominent speakers will be Governor Hovey, of this State; Governor Campbell, of Ohio, and James Whitcomb Riley.

The conference is presided over by Oscar P. McCulloch, of Indianapolis, and the secretaries are: Lucius C. Storrs, Lansing, Mich.; H. H. Hart, St. Paul; J. L. Welch, Denver; Mrs. M. C. Goodlett; Nashville; Miss Ellen H. Bailey, Boston, and Alexander Johnson, of Indianapolis.

MAFIA MURDERS.

A Family of Four Killed By the Society's Orders.

NEW YORK, May 14.—Advices from near Currientes, Argentine Republic, give the details of the murder of a family of four by order of the Mafia. They were Ricardo Monari, his wife and two sons. They had incurred the enmity of Luigi Solazzi because they did not encourage his attentions to Leonora Spacci, a niece of Monari's wife, who lived with them.

Monari and Solazzi had several quarrels, and in February Monari received a note signed "Roberto Franconi, President of the Mafia," commanding him to give Leonora to Solazzi under penalty of death. He again refused Solazzi's demand for the girl. On the night of March 8, while the family slept, six men, armed, entered the house and the elder Monari was stabbed and killed.

The noise aroused the others, and in the fight that ensued Solazzi and Mrs. Monari and the two sons were killed. Lenora escaped by hiding. The Mafia then put the bodies in sacks and threw them in the river, but they afterward floated and were found. Documents on Solazzi's body showed that he and his companions were members of the Mafia.

"SPIRIT CHILD."

A Small Boy Creating Considerable Excitement in Northern Indiana.

WARSAW, Ind., May 14.—Mr. S. L. Smith, the editor of The Silver Lake Signal, at Silver Lake, a little town about twelve miles south of this city, on the line of the Cincinnati, Wabash and Michigan railway, is the father of a child who is creating a great deal of excitement in his neighborhood by his wonderful and astonishing powers of what the father is inclined to think is mesmerism.

The boy is almost 7 years of age, and is capable even now of performing any of the feats of the famous Davenport brothers—rope-tying, chained-box trick, table rapping, reading sealed letters, slate writing, moving tables with heavy weights on them, etc. The little fellow may be bound hand, foot and neck to a chair, and in five seconds will liberate himself without untying a single knot, no matter how securely he is bound.

These, and many other mysterious feats which he performs, have given him the title of "Spirit Child." His powers are all natural, having been in no way developed.

Call Gaining.

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., May 14.—Two ballots were taken in the Democratic senatorial caucus last night, both with the same result. Call 54, Mays 44, Bloxham 1.

LABOR DISPATCHES.

Switchmen Discharged by the Chicago and Northwestern.

TROUBLE EXPECTED IN CHICAGO.

The Company Will Attempt to Operate Their Road With Non-Union Men. More Foreigners Shipped Into the Pennsylvania Coke Region — State Troops Withdrawn—Labor News from Other Places.

CHICAGO, May 14.—General Manager Whitman, of the Chicago and Northwestern Railway company, after numerous conferences with the directors and officers of the company, issued an order late last night that every switchman employed in the city yards of the company be discharged at 7 o'clock in the morning.

The cause of the present trouble between the switchmen and the Northwestern company dates back some six weeks ago, when a strike lasting two hours was inaugurated, because the company refused to discharge Yardmaster Frank McInerny, for whom they had conceived a dislike because he had dismissed a certain switchman. At that time Mr. Whitman was sick and travelling in the south, and rather than put the travelling public to great inconvenience, the company in a measure, conceded the demands of the men.

"Since my return," Said Mr. Whitman last nigh, "we have decided that the switchmen must go. The Northwestern company has made up its mind that it will hereafter try to manage its business without interference from the switchmen or the Switchmen's association. We have had a great deal of trouble all over our system with these men during the last three years. We discharge them now for the reason that the public and the management have put up with their conduct until forebearance has ceased to be a virtue."

Affairs in the Coke Region.

SCOTTDALE, Pa., May 14.—The object of President Gompers' visit to the coke region is said to have been to induce the district organizations to sever connection with the Knights of Labor, and join their forces with the American Federation of Labor. It is also said that he met with an emphatic refusal.

Yesterday's shipments by the Frick company was 209 cars, the largest since the strike began. Frick's forces of workmen are largely increased at almost every plant.

At Morewood forty-two old employes were refused work as the plant is in full operation, and no more help is needed.

McClure's union plant at Stoneville, which has been idle since the commencement of the strike, resumed yesterday. Over thirty of the newly imported men deserted, returning to their homes.

Thirty-two evictions were made at Valley Works, in Fayette county yesterday. One of the deputy sheriffs was severely injured with a stone thrown by a striker. A riot was narrowly averted.

Whitney works, near Latrobe, are again in full blast.

Foreign Workmen Expected.

UNIONTOWN, May 14.—The strikers of Frick's Leith and Redstone works are excited over the rumored shipment of a large number of foreign workmen to arrive there within the next few hours. Sheriff McCormick has sworn in about fifty deputies and forty more special men are expected from Pittsburg. The sheriff has gone to Redstone and will instruct the deputies on the arrival of the expected workmen. The latter will be closely guarded and none of the strikers will be allowed to communicate with them.

Capt. Frazier has received orders from Adjt. Gen. McClelland to disband Company C at once.

Strike Ended.

BROOKLYN, May 14.—The strike which was recently instituted on the work of the new Federal building here is ended, and the demands of the union men have been acceded to. None but union men are now employed.

The situation of the housesmiths' strike remains practically unchanged.

Cigarmakers All Out.

MANCHESTER, N. H., May 14.—The Manchester cigarmakers' union, which includes all the cigarmakers in the state, went on a strike yesterday for an increase of wages. The manufacturers offered an advance of 5 per cent. of the union's demand, but the offer was rejected. Both sides are firm.

Stone Quarries Silenced.

ST. CLOUD, Minn., May 14.—Four hundred quarrymen, stonecutters and tool-sharpeners, employed in Callson Brothers' and Robert Graham's quarries, went out on a strike yesterday, refusing to accept the bill of prices of the quarrymen.

More Italians From Pittsburg.

PITTSBURG, May 14.—Two hundred Italians have left Pittsburg for the coke regions. The padrones in charge of the different gangs claim that their men have been promised immediate and remunerative work at the mines and ovens.

Last of the Troops Withdrawn.

HARRISBURG, Pa., May 14.—An order was issued last night withdrawing the last of the troops from the coke region, Sheriff McCormick having notified the governor of his ability to preserve order.

Passengers Badly Shaken Up.

NEW YORK, May 14.—The fast express on the Philadelphia and Reading railroad ran into a train of freight cars near Bound Brook, N. J., wrecking the cars and throwing them down an embankment. The cab of the passenger engine was completely torn off and the engineer, who lives in Philadelphia, was probably fatally injured. The passengers received a lively shaking up but none was injured.

SETTLING A FEUD.

The Steeles and Halls, of West Virginia, Meet In a Bloody Battle.

CATLETTSBURG, Ky., May 14.—Particulars of one of the bloodiest fights on record has just been received here from Gager, McDowell county, W. Va., in which three men were killed outright another seriously wounded. For the past year or more the Hall and Steele families, living near the above mentioned place, have been at outs. Each swore to have the blood of his enemy. The Hall family consisted of father and four stalwart sons, while the Steeles counted three able to bear arms.

On Saturday the four Hall boys and two of the Steeles met at the office of 'Squire L. T. Murphy to transact some legal business. Each were armed with rifles and revolvers. One of the Hall boys was on the witness stand and contradicted a statement made by a Steele. The lie was given and the ball opened. The court room was quickly emptied of its occupants and those not interested in the trouble fled to escape stray bullets. Each man engaged hunted a tree and the firing became general. About forty or fifty shots, all told, were fired.

When the smoke of the battle had cleared away the Steele boys, Samuel and Hiram, were found to have been killed outright. L. W. Hall had a rifle ball through his brain and his brother Lewis was badly wounded.

The two of the deadly battle fled to their homes, and at last accounts had not been arrested. As they are known to be desperate men, but little effort will be made to arrest them. The scene of the fight is 140 miles distance from this place, and from telegraph or railroad communication.

KENTUCKY DERBY.

Kingman a Winner in the Slowest Derby Race Ever Run.

LOUISVILLE, May 14.—The largest crowd seen on Churchill Downs since the Tenbroeck-Mollie McCarthy match in 1878, yesterday witnessed the least interesting and slowest derby ever ran. As the time shows, the race was but little more than a good exercise gallop for the winner, who, with all horses that had a chance against him drawn, far outclassed his field. There were only four starters, as follows: Kingman, Balgowan, High Tariff and Hart Wallace.

The horses got away at the second attempt and High Tariff led the gallop past the stand. At the end of the first mile Hart Wallace was in front a length from High Tariff, with Kingman and Balgowan together in third place. Rounding the upper turn the field came together and they were all abreast when straightened out for the run in. Inside the last furlong Balgowan made a strong play to reach the wire first and had forged to the front by half a length at the lower stand. Murphy, however, easily brought Kingman up and won by over half a length. Time by quarters—0:33, 1:05, 1:35, 2:01, 2:21 3-4, 2:52 1-4.

Kingman, the winner, is a bay colt by Imp Glengarry, dam Patricia by Vauxhall, and is trained by his owner, Dudley Allen, running in the name of the Jacobin stables.

AMERICAN KNIGHTS TEMPLARS

Want to Execute Their Manoeuvres in the Old Country.

LONDON, May 14. — Five hundred Knights Templars of Albany, N. Y., are expected to arrive here in the latter part of July for a tour through Europe. They have applied to Minister Lincoln to obtain from the British government permission to wear their side arms and regalia while in this country. Mr. Matthews, the home secretary, has been consulted on the subject, and has intimated that it is impossible to make an exception to the case of the Albany knights.

The latter insist on the right to wear their uniforms and arms and to parade the deck of the steamer City of Chicago, which they have chartered for the voyage, although she sails under the British flag. To this probably no objection will be offered.

Application has been made to the governments of the countries which the knights intend to visit that they may be allowed to march through the streets armed and in full regalia, bearing their banners and executing their manoeuvres.

Big Oil Deal in West Virginia.

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., May 14.—The biggest oil deal ever made in this state closed yesterday by the transfer of 140 leases, covering about 10,000 acres of oil lands, together with machinery, from the Ten Mile Oil company to the South Pennsylvenia company, representing the Standard. The South Pennsylvania agrees to push developments of the Brown's mills territory, and the Ten Mile company agrees to divide with the South Pennsylvania any future territory they may secure. The consideration is not given, but the magnitude of the transaction can be imagined by the fact that the county clerk asserts that it will take the entire force three weeks to complete the records.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 14.—One million and fifty-eight thousand barrels of flour have been exported from this port during the first ten months of the crop year of 1890-91, as against 985,000 during the same period in the previous crop year. Before leaving they sprinkled oil over the papers in the cashier's desk. The loss aggregated $15,000.

Suicide of an Old Man.

WOOSTER, O., May 14.—Michael Shelly, the 80-year-old farmer, who was robbed last August of over $5,000, was found dead on his barn floor at 5 o'clock yesterday, by his grandson, with a bullet hole through his head. The old gentleman was on the witness stand Tuesday about six hours in the preliminary hearing of the Binkleys and Harry Webb, who have been arrested, charged with the robbery. It is supposed that the old gentleman's nerves were so shattered by the excitement of the trial that he committed suicide. A revolver was found laying near the body.

Cut to Pieces By the Cars.

COSHOCTON, O., May 14.—About 12 o'clock last night, Anderson Sutton, a young unmarried man, of this place, being intoxicated, laid down upon the Pittsburg, Cincinnati and St. Louis track within the city limits, and within a short time was cut in two at the middle and otherwise mutilated by a westbound freight. All of his remains that could be found were gathered together and sent to the undertaker. About $70 in money was found in his pockets.

CLEVELAND, May 14.—The 200 members here attending the hotel convention embarked in carriages, tallyhos and four-in-hands yesterday and started out for a drive around the city and through the parks. The hotel men all express much satisfaction over the work that has been done here and the manner in which they have been entertained.

Enforcing a Health Law.

COLUMBUS, O., May 14.—During the recent smallpox spell in Urbana, the township trustees used a building at the camp-meeting grounds as a pest house, but now that there are no more cases, they refuse to burn the building as directed by the state board of health. State Health Officer Probst has gone over to Urbana to fire the building himself, if the trustees persist in their refusal.

Reduction of Revenues.

COLUMBUS, O., May 14.—It is believed that the Phillips law is going to cause a considerable reduction of state and county revenues by preventing the sale of liquor in brothels. It is estimated that about 1,000 such places pay the Dow tax. The aggregate sum so paid being $250,000. Of that the state gets $50,000 and the counties the remainder.

Insanity or Suicide.

WAUSEON, O., May 14.—A woman was struck by the westbound freight at 11 o'clock last night, four miles east of here. She repeatedly looked round. When the engineer whistled she faced the engine, and was hurled into the air and horribly cut. It seems to be a case of insanity or suicide. She is thought to be a Mrs. Goodrwing.

COLUMBUS, O., May 14.—An omission of the law makers was discovered yesterday. County Auditor Kearne, of Gallia county, telegraphed to State Auditor Poe that the assessor of the Third ward of Gallipolis had died and asking how a successor might be provided. Mr. Poe has been searching the statutes but finds nothing bearing on the election of a successor to an assessor who dies, although provision is made for cases of failure to qualify. He decides that as the county auditor is authorized under Section 1518 to fill vacancies occurring by reason of failure of an assessor to qualify he can fill a vacancy caused by death.

Investigating the Riots.

DENVER, May 14.—The coroner's jury is still investigating the riot at City park, by which one man was killed and a number of others were wounded. John Ridenour, who was shot, is still alive, but no hopes are entertained for his recovery. The other men injured are doing well. The trades' unions of Denver hold a meeting to-morrow night. The men are very bitter against Davis, who, it is claimed, caused the shooting, and who helped do it, but they say they will give the law a fair show, and if it fails to do justice, then they will take the matter in their hands.

CANADA'S AFFAIRS.

A Sensation in Parliament—Sir Charles Tupper in Trouble.

OTTAWA, May 14.—Mr. Tate, who moved in parliament on Monday to impeach Sir Hector Langevin, and Hon. Thomas McGrevy, for corruption in administering the public works, is reported as saying that he held back some of the most damaging testimony against them and will make further disclosures when the case comes before the committee to which it has been referred for investigation.

Mr. Tate says the result must be one of two things, the expulsion of Sir Hector and McGrevy from the house of commons by a vote of parliament, or the downfall of the government, if Sir John McDonald attempts to condone the offense and "whitewash the minister of public works and his friend McGrevy." The regiments and the premier held a a conference. What occured has not transpired, but it is reported that Lord Stanley contemplates a sortie from the government.

After Sir Charles Tupper.

The opposition is pursuing Sir Charles Tupper for his action in taking an active part in elections while holding the office of high commissioner at London. Dr. Landerlin will inquire in the house whether, during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1890, Sir Charles received certain sums of money amounting to $25,970; whether, while acting as electioneering agent in the recent election, he held the office of high commissioner; whether his traveling expenses were paid at the time, and whether it was by direction of the government he canvassed in company with Solomon White, an avowed annexationist.

SIGNOR CORTE TALKS.

He Says He Saved the Lives of Parkerson, Wickliffe and Others.

NEW ORLEANS, May 14.—Signor Corte, the Italian consul, said yesterday that he was not recalled, but only summoned home to give his testimony in regard to the affairs of March 14. He knew of no reason why he should be recalled, and asked if it was because he had had the courage to express an opinion upon matters vital to the dearest sentiments of his countrymen.

Mr. Corte continuing, said that he had saved Mayor Shakespeare's life and the lives of Messrs. Parkerson, Wickliffe and other leaders. The day after the killing there was a determined resolution among certain of his countrymen to kill the mayor and all those who had had a hand in the butchery. Mr. Corte said he restrained their hands, and told them if harm befell the gentlemen he would denounce the perpetrators of the deed.

The consul believed that an amicable understanding in regard to the imbroglio was close at hand. He was not surprised at the action of the grand jury in returning his letter, and said he could expect nothing more from the jury whose chairman, as president of the Cotton Exchange, endorsed the killing. Relative to his departure for Italy, Mr. Corte said he could not leave till he had heard from Mr. Poma. This would probably be a day or so.

River Steamers Burned.

PITTSBURG, May 14.—Three Pittsburg tow-boats, the George Roberts, Eagle and Twilight, lying at the Monongahela wharf, were burned last night. The George Roberts is a total loss, and the Twilight and Eagle partially burned. Loss $25,000; fully covered by insurance.

How's Your Liver?

Is the Oriental salutation, knowing that good health cannot exist without a healthy Liver. When the Liver is torpid the Bowels are sluggish and constipated, the food lies in the stomach undigested, poisoning the blood; frequent headache ensues; a feeling of lassitude, despondency and nervousness indicate how the whole system is deranged. Simmons Liver Regulator has been the means of restoring more people to health and happiness by giving them a healthy Liver than any agency known on earth. It acts with extraordinary power and efficacy.

NEVER BEEN DISAPPOINTED.

As a general family remedy for Dyspepsia, Torpid Liver, Constipation, etc., I hardly ever use anything else, and have never been disappointed in the effect produced; it seems to be almost a perfect cure for all diseases of the Stomach and Bowels.

It may be a cheap pun but a fact that the Toledo statesman will be barely Hurd of this campaign and nothing more.

There is no use talking, Grandpa's hat won't fit Ben. When it comes to making speeches it is much too small. The President has a happy way of saying the very proper thing in a very proper way.

Let our prohibition friends prepare to hear a sad and astounding fact. The output of whisky in the United States last year was 120,000,000 gallons. There is enough nearly to put the whole world on a jag, but happily there is a large proportion of humanity that doesn't imbibe.

We may look for a pretty interesting campaign in Ohio this year. Not only will the two great parties have a high old time but for the first time in Ohio the Farmers' Alliance will have a ticket in the field. Just what figure the Alliance will cut in an Ohio campaign with a ticket of its own remains to be seen. Men who stand high in the councils of Alliance assure us the ticket is coming and they assert that the natives will be surprised when the votes are counted.

LaRue.

All quiet.

D. H. Clifton and Mr. Corey called at our house today. They are out on business. They tell me that the DeCliff folks would buy the old church on the road near DeCliff if they could for a price that they could stand and move it down to DeCliff. I advise the owners to sell it to them. It is wearing out and doing nobody any good now. Of course they would have to buy it cheap for it would cost them a good deal to move it down. If at DeCliff and fitted up it would be a good thing and useful.

Corn planting is progressing: ground dry and hard. Takes lots of hard work to get it in order—harrows, rollers and crushers have to be used.

Rain would be very acceptable. I think these frosts will be followed by rain, but I expect May to be a dry month. While cold, northeast winds continue, dry weather and frosts will.

Wheat is growing, but frost may cut it yet. Oats coming up uneven. I look for a poor crop of oats. This dry weather will not help the meadows any.

The Bain store is doing business.

J. H. Leonard has not opened up any new business yet. Report still says he is going to open up a banking business. Well, two banks in LaRue will be all we need.

T. L. Leonard is filling the landlord's position in the hotel quite well, report says.

Out here, two miles from LaRue, we are farming, the grandest calling of all.

No marriages or deaths to report.

Money is scarce, and will be till fall. Economy is in order now.

He Was All Right.

Polite Old Gent—Can I aid you, my dear sir, in crossing the street?

The Dear Sir—I guess I don't need no help.—Scribner's Magazine.

He Didn't Smile.

A man with a sachel and umbrella struck a banana peel on Jefferson avenue, near Wayne, yesterday, and as he went up and came down and tried to cover the whole town his sachel hit a passing dray horse and his umbrella thrashed the legs of a telegraph boy. A second man, who was close behind him, extended a helping hand, and as the victim scrambled up he looked at No. 2 and remarked:

"Isn't it funny?"

"Not very."

"You don't laugh."

"No."

"You don't even smile."

"No."

"It isn't because you can't, is it?"

"Oh, no. The reason is that I struck the mate to that skin about two blocks further down, and I don't know yet whether I'm afoot or on horseback."—Detroit Free Press.

A Fable.

A wolf, seeing a lamb drinking at a brook, stopped for a few minutes' conversation. "What big eyes you have got," bleated the innocent. "My dear," said the wolf, in a tone of reproof, "you ought never to allow your remarks to assume a character of [illegible] nature." "But," persisted the lamb, "what great teeth you have got." "[illegible]," [illegible] the wolf, not without a [illegible] of reproach, "did your [illegible] never [illegible] upon you to refrain from [illegible] that might cause pain?" [illegible] he then [illegible] but he found it [illegible] as tender as any he had ever tasted.

Though the [illegible] of the [illegible] class lose [illegible] refinement of manner, [illegible] prey is not noticeably changed.—New York Evening Sun.

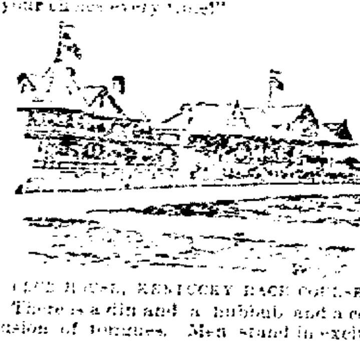
THE BLUEGRASS RACES.

HOW THEY APPEAR TO A BLUEGRASS GIRL.

All the Bluegrass People Enjoy Contests Between Blooded Horses—Scenes on the Track, on the Stands and with the [illegible].

[Special Correspondence.]

LEXINGTON, Ky., May [illegible].—"Back your [illegible], gentlemen! Back your judgment! [illegible] I bet you Hebe'll [illegible] second. I bet you Bermuda won't show up. I bet you [illegible] in third. Come up, gentlemen, come and back 'em! Back your choices every time!"



CLUB HOUSE, KENTUCKY RACE COURSE.

There is a din and a hubbub and a confusion of tongues. Men stand in excited groups about the pool room. They send here and there with unfixed purpose, or with every nerve alert concentrate their minds upon the odds the "bookies" are registering and proclaiming upon the various animals entered.

A stentor voice, perhaps, from one side of the room, whose rubicund owner, chalk in hand, is systematically employed in a rapid series of writing and erasing figures from the blackboard before him, sounds the fluctuating keynote of popular favor by a running fire of numerical jargon: "Helter Skelter, 6 to 4—6 to 4; Helter Skelter, 7 to 4—10 to 4," and so on, while probably odds altogether at variance with these are running upon the same horse in a different part of the room. Other turf potentates, just as generous of person and lusty of lung, are doing just as enterprising a business at their own respective stands upon every horse entered for the forthcoming race, and the chaos of sound and of scene beneath the grand stand at the Kentucky association racecourse at its spring meeting approaches the sublime.

Everybody is buying pool tickets—that is, everybody imbued with the true spirit of the occasion.

Before the winning and the losing has begun to sear men's souls, and the first bugle call to the post is yet unsounded, stalwart Bluegrass sons, with the well fed, well groomed look of their kind, gravitate together in amicable groups, exchange friendly slaps on the shoulder, interchange "straight tips" with shrewd winks and nods, air an anecdote or so, and every now and then shiver the welkin with a loud guffaw.

The impecunious man with a taste for the pool room, winds in and out among his acquaintances on the grounds in wistful endeavor to effect a loan upon the assured collateral that will accrue from the tip that he boasts.

Small boys with the inevitableness of the breed and a stern disregard of conventionalities, either in apparel or manners, effect an entrance boldly by means of a "fence ticket" into the Mecca of their desires, and listen open mouthed to the betting, or hover entranced about the jockeys, who have attained, in their eyes, to the very pinnacle of mundane bliss.

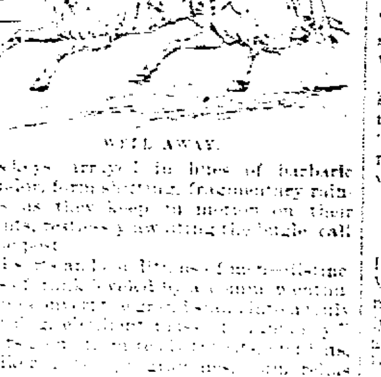
Others less doughty of heart are content to enjoy the glories within in slim sections afforded the view by the cracks in the high board fence inclosing the magic inclosure. Others, Zaccheus-like, are mounted in trees, and reap their reward at the expense of much bodily contortion. But the scene at the race course of the Kentucky association at Lexington is well worth such effort.

There is the glamour and the poetry of all typical and time honored institutions in the Kentucky association meetings, hardly less inspiring than the charm of the physical surroundings.

From every point of view a far reaching stretch of gracious Bluegrass lands melt into a horizon of hazy foliage that the spring has called upon the forest trees. White stables, the lodgings of the equine aristocracy that the races have assembled from far and near, are dotted about the immediate distance.

The magnificent track describes a circular mile about the expansive Bluegrass disk, whose cool turf, shaded by beeches, is a refreshment to the heated feet of the horses when the race is done.

Here, amid "green pastures," the excited animals are led after the finish of each race, and rubbed and smoothed and tended with the solicitude that royalty itself would scarce evoke. The "grand stand," timers' and judges' stand, the betting sheds, club house, lawn and field are aglow and aswarm, and instinct with the prevailing sense of anticipation and exhilaration.



WELL AWAY.

Jockeys arrayed in hues of barbaric splendor, form shifting, fragmentary rainbows as they keep in motion on their mounts, restlessly awaiting the bugle call to the post.

All [illegible] Charts [illegible] handkerchiefs [illegible] wave [illegible] glances to [illegible] in the arena.

There is the [illegible] of the [illegible] "black's tips" [illegible] clang of the bell.

The old woman who [illegible] always [illegible] lucky, [illegible] place [illegible] betting [illegible] of people around her, who have a [illegible] [illegible] she is there with her [illegible] away [illegible] When [illegible] she followed her [illegible] "I was a [illegible] I couldn't find no better name for a good horse than 'Cow's Bag.'"

The man unversed in turf lore, from a [illegible] perhaps—there is no man unversed in horse lore in the Bluegrass—is there in a pathetic attitude of apology for his ignorance, toward the horsey and superior acquaintance beside him, whose every sentence smacks of the turf. Here, too, is the young mother, to the disgust of her neighbors, who couldn't miss the races, yet had nobody at home to whom to intrust a colicky baby. Here is the tyro in the guilty possession of his first pool ticket, and the girl who would bet if she dared, and the little lost [illegible].

The "clubhouse" of the Kentucky association—the exquisitely fitted up building adjoining the more democratic grand stand—is the coign of vantage where the flower of typical Bluegrass society may be viewed in a bunch upon a typical Bluegrass occasion.

Here men eligible to the privileges of the club house disencumber themselves of beautiful women in gala attire upon the wide piazza that overlooks the race track, they themselves preferring more intimate relations with the sport. They drift back occasionally to show a proprietary interest and to report proceedings in the thick of the fray, and other men flock and pleasant little coteries are formed, and the occasion has all the charm of an afternoon reception with the conventionality left out and a zest and a fillip imparted.

Now and then a spruce waiter with tray and tinkling glasses misty with crushed ice and a bottle of champagne appears before a group, and there is gay quaffing and laughter and toasts to the winner and to those yet to win.

Nor do these dames of high degree deny themselves altogether the cream of the sport. Masculine friends are dispatched unceremoniously by these gentle "plungers" to back the capricious choice of my lady, and soft voices made only for vocal caresses may be heard keyed to the highest excitement in such expressions as, "I played Scoundrel for the winner and a certain one for the place." "I'm going to hedge on this race," etc. Sporting lingo being as familiar to the fair tongues as gracious social phrases.

Verily the Bluegrass is of the turf turfy.

The rich purses that are swung so enticingly from the middle of the wire before the start of every race, and that prove to be the outward tokens of the winners' success, were fashioned—the whole sixty—by the deft fingers of the beautiful daughter of the president of the association. Thus a pretty sentiment and association makes them yet more worthy of the winning.

The Kentucky Race association, organized in 1826, and the oldest and perhaps the most illustrious institution of the kind in the United States, never throughout its long years of glory and prestige enjoyed at any of its annual spring meetings the success that crowned the meetings of 1891.

AT THE FINISH.

Fully 500 notable horses, some with a brilliant record made, and others with their future to make or mar by the result of the next twelve days' events, were entered for the sixty races—five being run each day.

Let me describe a typical race. When the starter's red flag fell and the shout went up, "They're off!" the very atmosphere seemed charged with strained attention painful in its intensity, so highly on the alert were the nerves of hundreds of eager spectators. Not an eyeball shifted save with the speeding of the flashing flecks of color, now near, now far, now nearing again, that meant the identity of the various mounts. Dust rose before them as a pillar of cloud as they pressed to the post.

Women flushed and paled and bit their lips and threatened hysterics as the chances wavered. Men held a mighty stillness, keeping themselves in hand with an effort, every faculty concentrated upon the momentous work. "Riley's not in it!" "Longshore has the lead!" "Where's Protection?" Hopes fluttered and languished and took heart again.

Suddenly there was a cry, "Hurrah for Bermuda!" as the beautiful bay colt entered the stretch the leader by a length. An instant more of wildest excitement and bonny Bermuda has passed triumphantly under the wire—the winner of the rich Distillers' stake by a length and a half.

There are yells of delight, there is gnashing of teeth, there are congratulations and hand shaking, there are inward anathemas and outward cursing of luck. Women laugh in exuberant transport, or tearfully bewail to their husbands who have backed the wrong horse, "I told you so, Jack; maybe you'll heed what I say the next time—you—you ho—or—rid old thing!"

And so the tale was told—the horse tale—never long enough to mention in a race—over in a flash, the twinkling of an eye, the lash of a whip; the event so long anticipated gone in the telling, truly a commentary on the evanescence of mundane transactions.

Perhaps, after all, the best "tip" is, "Hold fast to your money!" and the most sensible advice to the young man who fain would affect the races is, "Don't!"

"There's ups an' there's downs, the Lord knows, in everything," exclaimed an old man at the track, as he pocketed his losses, "but it appears to me in this here horse racin' business it's mostly downs—leastways with me!"

DAISY FITZHUGH.

This Is the First Row with Italy.

It is a fact worth noting just now that Italy is the one great power in the Old World with which the United States has never before had any complications, friendly or otherwise. This is largely because as a great power Italy is very young, and also because there is no part of the world where the territories of the two nations are adjacent, or where their citizens are rivals in any kind of business. Russia is our long [illegible] Russian interests have [illegible] with ours. We once [illegible] with France, though [illegible] we have [illegible] with Germany and England we have always with [illegible] But [illegible] little [illegible] of the [illegible] before interested.

An Object Lesson.

A WOMAN'S TEARS.

The heart is such a strange affair,
So full of joy and gladness,
And clouds of peace destroying care
Are mixed with glints of gladness.
And there are times when all our skies
Are bathed in sunlit glory,
When tears will strangely dim the eyes—
Ah, life, how strange a story!

'Twas only yesterday I viewed,
While [illegible] the city,
A charming damsel—was I rude?
Her face was sweet and pretty.
Her eyes were fair as stars of night,
Her cheeks were like the roses.
I thought "no sorrow deep or slight
Within her breast reposes."

Yet as I gazed into her eyes,
Upon their beauty dwelling,
I saw—and great was my surprise—
The tear drops gently welling.
Yes, welling from the heart I thought
Held naught but love and gladness.
"What cruel thorn," said I, "has brought
To such a rose its sadness?"

"Sweet dove," I mused, "could my right arm
In happiness defend you,
You could not know a breath of harm;
It's strength I'd gladly lend you."
Just then she whispered to her mate,
I listened, wrapped in wonder,
"Beware of that horseradish, Kate,"
Said she, "it's stoughter'n thunder."

Remarkable Facts.

Heart disease is usually supposed to be incurable, but when properly treated a large proportion of cases can be cured. Thus Mrs. Elmira Hatch, of Elkhart, Ind., and Mrs. Mary L. Baker, of Ovid, Mich., were cured after suffering 20 years. S. C. Linburger, druggist at San Jose, Ill., says that Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure, which cured the former, "worked wonders for his wife." Levi Logan, of Buchanan, Mich., who had heart disease for 30 years, says two bottles made him "feel like a new man." Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure is sold and guaranteed by Denison & Co., and Hoberman & Co. Book of wonderful testimonials free.

Where the Trouble Was.

Mr. Snopps—Snipps, your chickens come over into my yard.

Mr. Snipps—Yes, and they do not come back.—Life.

Every family should be provided with some reliable remedy for bowel complaints. The want of such an article is the cause of much suffering, especially during the summer months. In almost every neighborhood some one has died, with cramps or cholera morbus, before medicine could be produced or a physician summoned. A fair trial will satisfy you that Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy is unequaled for those diseases. It is also a certain cure for dysentery and diarrhoea. When reduced with water and sweetened, it is pleasant to take. Children like it. For sale by Flocken the druggist.

Secretary Blaine's Condition.

NEW YORK, May 14.—Secretary Blaine, who has been quite ill at his daughter's residence in this city for the past several days, is now slightly better, but his physician, Dr. Dennis, has positively forbidden Mr. Blaine to return to his duties. He says that he must not think of work for two months, or work might become an impossibility.

Lord Bacon Said.

"To explain the mystery of life is like two blind men asking each other 'what is light?'" No more can we explain how medicines cure disease. But we do know that pure blood is necessary to health, and the Brazilian Indians discovered in the Cactus Blood Cure the only reliable vegetable blood purifier known. No rival, no imitator, no failures. Sold by L. Denison and Co., druggists, Marion, O.

TO VISIT CHICAGO IN '93.

Co-operative Clubs for the Purpose of Raising the Money Are Being Formed.

[Special Correspondence.]

CHICAGO, May 12.—One of the most significant as well as encouraging indications of the interest that is being manifested in the forthcoming World's fair is to be found in the number of co-operative clubs that have already been organized, or are in progress of organization, in different parts of the country, having for their object the conveyance of large delegations from each particular locality to Chicago in 1893. For, after all, the final success of the enterprise depends in a great measure upon the hearty patronage and support of the great masses of the people.

The national government, the various state legislatures and the people of Chicago have done nobly in the matter of providing the vast sums of money that must be expended before the doors are opened with the blare of trumpets, but after that the millions of dollars that will have to pour in to meet the running expenses, to say nothing about piling up a handsome surplus, will necessarily come, to a very large degree, from the pockets of the producing classes, from afar as well as near.

During the Centennial year there were doubtless tens of thousands of people from the west and south who were more than anxious to visit the great show in Fairmount park, and were only deterred from doing so by lack of the "one thing needful." This time, so far as population is concerned, the fair will be much more advantageously located, but at the same time it will cost as much to come from Wyoming, Utah, Louisiana and other distant points to Chicago as it did to go from Chicago to Philadelphia in 1876, and there are very few wageworkers who, without previous preparation and exercise of economy, can afford to apply the earnings of weeks or of months even to a World's fair junket. Hence the formation of these co-operative clubs may be accepted as illustrative of the oft repeated declaration that the interest of the masses has been aroused in the fair, and that they propose to lend it not only their moral but their material support. Several of these clubs have been brought into existence in the south, others up among the Rockies and on the Pacific slope, and still others in the east. In the majority of cases the members simply propose to contribute so much per week in order that they may have accumulated a little pile by the summer of 1893 without having particularly missed it.

In Nebraska, however, there has been organized an excursion and investment company, with a capital of $100,000. The membership fee is fifty-two dollars, payable in installments of fifty cents per week for two years, and for this amount the concern agrees to transport the members from a central point in that state to Chicago and back on special trains, to pay for their meals en route, and their living expenses for a week in the Windy City at the best three-dollar-a-day hotel, and furnish tickets of admission, guides and printed information. A half dollar a week is not greatly missed, and consequently it is little wonder that the artisans and grangers of that state, with their wives, their sisters, their cousins and their aunts, are availing themselves of the opportunity afforded them with avidity. There is room for thousands of such clubs all over the country, just as there will be plenty of room and a hearty welcome for their members when they get here two years hence.

Too much circulation cannot be given to the rule which has been adopted regarding state buildings, and which provides that no manufactured goods, except canned or preserved fruits, vegetables and potted plants, will be allowed in these edifices. In a great many states the opinion seems to be entertained that the minor buildings will each be a kind of a state fair on a small scale, and that the best bread, and the crispest pies of the housewife, and the crochet work and embroidery of the maiden who manipulates her fingers on the veranda in the twilight while her mother is washing the supper dishes in the kitchen, will all be welcome. The board of control, however, does not look at it that way, and so it has just reaffirmed the rule in question in order to give it, if possible, a more binding effect.

Of the plans submitted for the various structures it is apparent that the administration building will tower above all others in its magnificence. Occupying a commanding location in the very center of the grand plaza, surrounded by a great lawn embellished with the skill of the best landscape gardeners, as well as with statuary and broad granolithic promenades; with an unobstructed view over Lake Michigan, and surmounted by a magnificent gilded dome, it will be a thing of beauty, and should be allowed to remain upon the grounds as a joy forever. Architecturally it will be in the style of the French Renaissance, carried out in the academic manner of the Ecole des Beaux Arts, and it will cost every cent of the $600,000 that has been appropriated for its erection.

HENRY M. HUNT.

Early Mining Regulations.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 6.—From whom did the early miners in California derive their rights to hold and work their claims secure from intrusion? This is a question that is often asked, and which I will try to answer. I believe the rules observed in those days were the best and simplest in the world. They were in fact purely democratic in principle and practice. Their general plan and scope may be outlined briefly in this way: The discoverers of a gulch, flat or bar claim, knowing they would not be sustained in organizing a trust and in trying to monopolize ground to work for years—to amass large fortunes while others were seeking places where they could earn gold by honest work—comprehended the necessity of doing as they would wish to be done by.

Therefore the first man or men selected their choice of the ground, denominating so many feet, constituting bounds that defined each individual claim. The next followed the precedent of the discoverer, and so on until the space favorable for gold was all occupied. That became a district, and the size of the first claim was adhered to through the whole district afterward. It was usual to put in writing, and post up at some prominent place, the extent of the district and the sizes of claims each was entitled to hold. And woe be to the man that attempted to hold or smuggle more than provided by the general law. Thus, proving himself unwilling to abide by uniform conditions, he was liable to a general edict of expulsion. Taking gold from the claim of another was likely to be followed by summary expulsion from the district.

Such were the ways the early miners secured and held rights. They were fair and just for all [illegible] of them, and others were compelled to abide by them. Very few appeals were sought, because justice was supreme and necessary for the welfare of all. Law books and lawyers were not needed. Many of the latter were knights of the pick, pan and shovel, and did good work as pioneer miners.

FORTY-NINER.

A National Event.

The holding of the World's Fair in a city scarcely fifty years old will be a remarkable event, but whether it will really benefit this nation as much as the discovery of the Restorative Nervine by Dr. Franklin Miles is doubtful. This is just what the American people need to cure their excessive nervousness, dyspepsia, headache, dizziness, sleeplessness, neuralgia, nervous debility, dullness, confusion of mind, etc. It acts like a charm. Trial bottles and fine book on "Nervous and Heart Disease," with unequaled testimonials, free at Denison & Co's., and Hoberman & Co's. It is warranted to contain no opium, morphine or dangerous drugs.

Taken in time, even Consumption yields to the wonderful effects of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It won't make new lungs—but it will make diseased ones healthy when nothing else will. There's reason for it, too. Consumption is Lung-scrofula. For every form of scrofula, and all blood-taints, the "Discovery" is a positive cure. It's the most potent strength-restorer, blood-cleanser, and flesh-builder known to medical science. For Weak Lungs, Spitting of Blood, Bronchitis, Asthma, Catarrh, and all lingering Coughs, it's an unequaled remedy. It's a guaranteed one. If it doesn't benefit or cure, you have your money back. You've everything to gain from it—nothing to lose.

It's especially potent in curing Tetter, Salt-rheum, Eczema, Erysipelas, Boils, Carbuncles, Sore Eyes, Goitre, or Thick Neck, and Enlarged Glands, Tumors and Swellings. Great Eating Ulcers rapidly heal under its benign influence.

Mr. Frank J. Kellogg will present two of his magnificent entertainments at Music Hall on Monday and Tuesday evenings, May 18 and 19. Admission 15 and 25 cents.

The Lima Daily Gazette of April 29, 1891, says this:

A large audience, mostly ladies, went with Prof. Kellogg last evening to Paris, where they were delighted with the sight of the magnificent buildings, the Grand Opera House, Arch de Triumph, Louvre Museum and the gay city of Paris, which, for extent, style of architecture and enormous expenditure of money have a world wide reputation. Each picture is discussed by the professor, who gives many interesting facts and figures, making the entertainment decidedly profitable as an educator. Miss McKell recited the "Wreck of the Hesperus" and "Green Mountain Justice." This evening she will give "Dying Scene of Little Joe," the "Polish Boy" and the "Railroad Sign," while Prof. Kellogg will continue his journey to Rome, where we will see the wonderful Vatican with its 1500 apartments.

The defendants here are a committee that leased rooms in the Bennett Building for the Shanty Club, and wherein that defunct organization held its weekly conclaves for the ameliorating social influences and benefits of its memberhip. When the organization collapsed, according to the claim of the lessor, the room was abandoned with $41 50 still due on the rent, and the committee was deserted by the brethren and compelled to assume responsibility. The case is set for hearing Thursday, the 21st of May.

ATTACKED BY DOGS.

John O'Connel, of Green Camp Township, Is Severely Bitten and Seeks a Remedy at Law.

Green Camp township furnishes a dog case for the courts, which grows out of an attack made upon John O'Connel, a well-to-do farmer living in that township, by two canines belonging to Wilson Severn and his son Della. While passing the Severn home Monday the two animals ran out in the highway and jumped on O'Connel, biting him in the face and inflicting a serious wound beneath the lower jaw, narrowly missing his throat. Mrs Severn succeeded in calling the dogs off, which action most likely saved his life.

O'Connel went to the Severns and requested that the dogs be killed, which was refused, and he determined upon another course. Accordingly he appeared before 'Squire McNally in this city Tuesday and swore out a warrant for the arrest of Wilson and Della Severn, charging them with harboring dogs and permitting them to run at large and unattended. The warrant was served Wednesday by Constable Huggins and the Severns arraigned before the justice. They waived examination and were bound over to court under $100 bonds each, which were given.

The law under which the arrest was made provides a fine of $5 and costs and is one of the dog acts that have not been often tried.

NEW CASE FILED

James C. Hastings Brings Suit to Recover $2966.27.

James C. Hastings, of LaRue, Wednesday filed petition in common pleas court against Charles Quigley, in which he claims the sum of $2966.27.

In his petition the plaintiff claims that he entered into a contract partnership with Quigley, in July, 1885, for the purpose of purchasing and selling grain at LaRue, and that he was to furnish the warehouse or elevator to do all work and labor of purchasing and shipping to the market, while the defendant was to furnish the money to make the purchases and receive the proceeds of the sales, and account for the same. The firm continued in the business until June, 1890, when it ceased to do business as a firm. It is claimed that the defendant received during that time $62,018.64, and that the profits of said business amounted to $4,449.41, two-thirds of which, according to the contract, belongs to the plaintiff, amounting to $2966 27. It is charged that the defendant has converted the whole of the proceeds to his own use, and has failed repeatedly to account for same to the plaintiff, and he therefore prays judgment in the above amount, with interest from June 20, 1890.

Johnston & Young and T. L. Bartow, of LaRue, are plaintiff's attorneys.

MRS. C. F. GARBERSON

Dies of Consumption at Her Parents' Home in Richwood.

Mrs Anna Garberson, wife of Att'y C. F. Garberson, died at the home of her parents, Rev. and Mrs. John Graham, in Richwood, at 3:35 this morning. Only two weeks ago was Mrs Garberson sent to her parents' home in the hope that the change might better her condition, but alas, there was no avail. The dreaded disease of consumption, which had made her an invalid for the past three years, could not be shaken off, and after long suffering, hoping against hope, she succumbs to the inevitable and a loving spirit passed into eternity.

Deceased was aged 39 years and 6 months. She was married to Mr. Garberson at Upper Sandusky in 1876 and one child blessed their union. She was a bright and lovable woman and her death, though not unlooked for, creates a sorrow that is deep indeed.

The funeral will take place from her parents' home in Richwood, Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Prof. D. M. Bristol's Educated Horses.

Tomorrow evening at Music Hall our amusement goers will have an opportunity to see a wonderful exhibition of equine intelligence as given by Prof. Bristol's horses. Saturday night will be the last night of the engagement. On Saturday afternoon a matinee will be given and parents should let the little ones attend the same, for besides being amused they will learn a lesson that will be valuable to them in later years, namely, that kindness to man's best friend among the brute creation is appreciated by that noble animal and will do more to make him obedient than the use of a whip. Prof. Bristol has complete control over his horses and has them so well trained that during the entire entertainment it never drags. The program carried out is a novel and entertaining one, and is made up of a number of features that are acted out to perfection. And there is the comic mule, Denver, who is a whole show in himself and who displays more intelligence than nine-tenths of the two legged would-be clowns to be seen generally in circuses. This beast can do everything but talk, and is always the centre of attraction during the whole evening. Go see the horses by all means.

A Marvelous Exhibition.

A wonderful exhibit is to be seen in the Fite block, east Center street. It is called the Air Queen and to be appreciated and realized it must be seen. A fine young lady arises in the air in front of the audience, and without touching her feet and hands upon anything, she performs many evolutions in a very wonderful and graceful manner. What supports her no one knows, as no wires or anything of any kind can be seen. The power used by this young lady is certainly new and mysterious. Nothing ancient about this fine performance, just from Paris, France. Thousands of people of Ohio have seen it already, and among them were some who pretend to know all about such things. They all come away as much in the dark as when they go, and no one yet has been able to explain this great mystery.

You can see the "Air Queen" for a dime. It is worth a dollar.
